

6th Period Research on “Sorry, Wrong Number” Radio Play

(This can also be research on the

Fletcher was born in Brooklyn, New York, on March 28, 1912	She died in August 30, 2000 in Langhorne, PA	this play was partially inspired by an incident in somebody else's life	Sorry Wrong Number was translated into 15 different languages because it was so popular.
Play partly inspired by a murder	the radio play premiered in 1943	The play won the 1960 Edgar Allan Poe Award	this play was originally designed as an experiment in sound and not a horror play.
The radio play was performed in an	this was the film version of a highly successful radio play of the same name by Lucille Fletcher	It was aired on suspense radio on May 25, 1943.	It had many awards and 11 characters.
To critics “Sorry, Wrong Number” was one of her best plays.	She graduated college in 1933		The radio show was ‘Legendary’ when it was broadcasted.
Sorry Wrong Number was made into a TV special on station WCBW-TV in January 30, 1946	made in 1948	it was first presented in the east coast version	86 percent in Rotten Tomatoes. It was a thriller/drama.
the radio one came out in 1943	Some characters were Mrs. Elbert Stevenson Jim George Police sergeant Martin Telephone operator Etc.	then later in the west coast version
it was translated into 15 languages	the story was about somebody else's life	it lasted one hour and 29 minutes	